

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

5       A PWM signal voltage to be applied to each of signal voltages X1 to X4 of a simple matrix display to be PWM controlled is controlled in such a manner that the numbers of forward approach signal voltages and rearward approach signal voltages are almost equal to each other for a certain scanning electrode within an optional period.